Holding the Torch High in 2014

By Helen-Kay Davy, Principal

The opening months of the 2014–15 school year have been a revelation for me as Havergal's 11th Principal. The year began with the wonderful Grade 12 Mother-Daughter Luncheon, Celebration Saturday in support of our community partnerships, the Junior School Harvest Festival and Reunion Weekend with 320 Old Girls returning to Havergal to rekindle friendships and reminisce about their shared Havergal experience. I particularly enjoyed sharing lunch with members of the Class of 1964 who were celebrating their 50th anniversary since graduation.

Havergal is filled with history and tradition, and I believe that it is always wise to mark special moments as they provide a supportive framework for an innovative and promising future. As we honour Havergal's 120th anniversary, we celebrate this remarkable achievement. The school recently hosted the Havergal at Koerner Hall event, an evening that showcased the many artistic talents of our current students and Old Girls in the artistic disciplines of music, drama, dance and art. I hope that those of you who were able to join us for this special occasion had a wonderful time. Our Heads of Schools—Leslie Anne Dexter and Michael Simmonds—speak to the importance of teaching the arts as part of a liberal arts curriculum in their article on page 10.

The stunning photo on the cover of the Torch not only captures the majestic beauty of the Great Wall of China, but also represents the metaphoric journey of learning—a path that may not follow a straight line but is sure to provide many different points of view along the way. As part of the June 2014 Global Experience Program excursion to China, led by Mandarin teacher Eunice Yu and Cindy Chi from Food Services, students explored the history and culture of this country. It is important for our students to learn about the world and to experience it first-hand so that they can apply their knowledge to new situations and engage with people who have different perspectives.

Our feature article for this edition of the Torch concerns our Old Girls network and the many ways our Old Girls keep connected beyond the ivy. Havergal is indebted to its Old Girls for offering our school countless volunteer hours, bringing their professional expertise to bear as guest speakers and mentors, and supporting the school with their donations. Havergal Old Girls provide the foundation upon which our school has been and continues to be able to grow and flourish. I hope you will enjoy the article on page 16 as you learn more about the many programs and offerings through which our students and Old Girls stay connected.

Finally, as always, Havergal's Annual Report forms part of this fall edition of the Torch. The report includes a complete listing of all those donors who have contributed to the financial health and wellbeing of our school. As we begin this year to articulate our new strategic plan for success, I would like to take this opportunity to offer our sincere gratitude to all those current families, Old Girls, current and former staff and faculty, and friends of Havergal for their continuing support. Simply put, the school would be unable to maintain the level of excellence to which our students and broader community are accustomed without your ongoing generosity.

In closing, I wish the Havergal community every blessing and much happiness as the Christmas season of celebration approaches. 🍂

Finding the Fun

in the Every Day

By Susan Pink,
Communications Associate

Meet School Captain Tessa Buchan 2015

Tessa Buchan is a leader who accomplishes her goals and shares the joys of life through friendship and laughter. As Havergal's School Captain for the 2014–15 school year, Tessa works hard, plays hard and creates an upbeat atmosphere within the school. No matter what the situation, she says there is always something to laugh about during the day.

She had always dreamed of attending Havergal. "My mom was a student here and a Prefect in her graduating year [Class of 1985]," says Tessa, who joined the school in Grade 7. "Growing up, I admired the photos of her wearing her white blazer. I knew that I wanted to have similar experiences."

Tessa loves Havergal for many reasons, including the school's beautiful campus, close-knit community and all of the outstanding opportunities to explore new interests and activities. "I found my passions at Havergal: music and sports," she says. Tessa plays the trombone with the Symphonic Band (and on occasion with the Symphony Orchestra) and is a member of the Senior Choir. She plays on the Field Hockey Team, the Ice Hockey Team and the Rowing Team. "I love starting the day with a workout, seeing my crewmates and friends and watching the sunrise over the city," says Tessa of her passion for rowing, which began in Grade 9.

Tessa and the Prefects have established this year's motto: One-Four-One-Five, Find Your Jive. "It means find the fun in life," Tessa explains. "We developed this year's motto after we had a conversation with my mom during the Prefect retreat in late August. She was telling us about her glory days as a Prefect in 1984–85. Their motto was Eight-Four-Eight-Five, Get Down Boogie Jive. It made us laugh and we thought it would be fun to make this year's motto light-hearted."

To help people find their jive and discover the lighter side of life, Tessa and the Prefects are organizing special activities throughout the school year. At Upper School Prayers, they are honouring Super Spark Students and Star Staff Members—inspirational people who bring joy to the community. They are also posting new jokes of the week near the Expression Wall and playing music in the Dining Hall on Thursdays at lunch to inspire outbursts of dancing and singing. "My peers recognize that there is no benefit to being upset or grumpy around other people. We should focus on expressing our joy because it's contagious," she adds.

As graduation draws near, Tessa wants to fulfil everything on her HC bucket list. To her, this means taking advantage of all the activities and opportunities available at the school.

As for her future, Tessa is considering studying either business or medicine at university. For now, she is keeping herself busy with an eclectic mix of activities, which includes participating in sports teams and making music. "Whatever I do in the future, I want to do what makes me happy and keeps me busy; Havergal has opened my eyes to this." 🍌

“Whatever I do in the future, I want to do what makes me happy and keeps me busy; Havergal has opened my eyes to this.”

Celebrating the Arts at Havergal

By Mrs. Leslie Anne Dexter, Head of Junior School, and Dr. Michael Simmonds, Head of Upper School

Globally, we need more people who can re-imagine, re-interpret and reflect the diversity of the human condition.

Havergal College has always been committed to providing a strong liberal arts education for all its students. And while it takes time for students to develop the skills required to write, reason and communicate clearly in ways that allow them to make connections between disciplines, it seems that children everywhere are born with a predisposition to play, imagine and create. Give any child under four years of age crayons and some paper and, without exception, an original work emerges from the blank page. Of course the adults may have to ask some questions of the artist to better understand the creation itself, but that conversation inevitably reveals some greater truth about perception and reality—both for the artist and for the viewer. That is the experiential nature of the creative process, and it finds a home at Havergal in the visual and performing arts from JK through to Grade 12.

The arts play an integral role in developing the hearts and minds of students at Havergal. Whether it be the self-portraits drawn by our Kindergarten students that adorn the walls of their classrooms or the arias sung by an Upper School student at Prayers, this school celebrates, honours and educates emerging artists in drama, dance, band, strings, singing, graphic arts, painting, photography, sculpture and print making. A whole team of passionate and committed educators (who are also artists in their own right) helps our students express their creative selves in ways that can surprise our students and their families.

Take, for example, the interdisciplinary works created by our Junior School students. Children translate their understanding of the principles of music and visual arts into unique multimedia works to create a hybrid project where art and music collide. In so doing, they internalize fundamental artistic concepts and show how underlying ideas and expressions of art are universal and can be communicated through a variety of disciplines in diverse ways.

And, while integrating the arts across disciplines helps our students make connections they had not previously considered, the Grade 9 stone carving project challenges our girls to connect with something more physical. Stone carving is an art form that students have little experience with and most come to the practice as complete beginners—each girl starting from the same place as a novice carver. Before starting a project, most students are concerned with the quality of their graphic skills and their ability to draw or paint realistically; they tend to value student work mainly for its realism and can overlook ingenuity, innovation and risk-taking.

Havergal's stone carving program levels the creative playing field because Grade 9 students do not have to be "good" at drawing or painting to begin the project. And because the carving seems to emerge from within the stone itself—this is called reductive sculpture—abstract forms are just as likely to manifest as more traditional ones. There is no erasing or painting over. The sculpture takes shape slowly. A piece of stone can (and does) break off and the student's initial idea for a finished work changes in that moment. In this way our students learn first-hand that creating art requires tremendous patience, perseverance, problem solving, courage, practice, thought and revision. There is nothing perfect about stone carving. It is a messy process and things break. This is a concept the Art department wants students to understand early on in their studies; one that will encourage students to embrace the learning experience without fear of failure and prepare them for real life.

Whereas students in the visual arts focus on producing work that people can “see,” our music students focus on producing work that appeals to a different sense. Not a day goes by without music being performed, practiced and heard at Havergal. Whether it’s the entire Upper School singing a House hymn in the Brenda Robson Hall during Prayers or the percussive sounds from the piano, drums and tympani drifting from the Band room into the halls of the school, this community embraces music and the joy it brings. And it’s no wonder. Our Music department aims to instill a lifelong love of music in students at all grades and our students are able to enjoy its power, both as performers and as listeners.

Havergal has general music and vocal, band and strings programs from Kindergarten through to Grade 12, and our students are encouraged and coached to perform in Music Nights and other special performances, as well as in Prayers, throughout the year. Students also have the opportunity to perform in concerts and festivals in world-class acoustic venues, such as Koerner Hall. Our music students have, over many decades, had the opportunity to perform in various locations around the world as part of our excursion program, and in so doing, they have come to understand the power of music to transcend language, culture and politics. Music always plays an important role at special events like Carol Service and Founders’ Day, and our students are at the centre of these school traditions.

The dramatic arts program helps students to understand the importance of belonging to an ensemble—to see themselves as part of something bigger—and to work collaboratively (both on- and off-stage) with students and adults in the production of a play or musical. Learning to accept constructive feedback helps girls metabolize the sting of criticism in ways that build their resilience and resolve, while improving their artistic discipline. In addition, the rehearsal process provides students with the safety net required to build relationships with peers that are grounded in trust, compassion and shared responsibility. And for those girls interested in pursuing dance there are opportunities in both the Junior and Upper Schools in ballet, non-auditioned clubs and the auditioned Dance Troupe.

Heads' Message

The arts thrive at the school because Havergal—and its community—recognize the critical role the arts play in developing the creative skills and competencies necessary to excel and succeed in our rapidly changing world.

Globally, we need more people who can re-imagine, re-interpret and reflect the diversity of the human condition in unique ways that challenge, inspire and encourage all of us. The arts facilitate this kind of innovative thinking. The pursuit of excellence in the arts can lead to discovery in all other areas of study and, for this reason, Havergal is committed to the arts as a way of helping students engage in the world and explore their passions.

We are proud of Havergal's ongoing commitment to providing an exceptional Arts program that supports our many talented students. Some of our students go on to attend prestigious visual and performing arts programs across North America and beyond, while others will pursue professions in science, math, business and technology, to name a few. For these graduates, the creative thinking that their involvement in the arts has fostered will inform their professional and personal lives and ensure their continuing love of the arts—both as artists and as those who appreciate them. 🍌

The Cohen Amphitheatre

By Louise Yearwood, Executive Director of Advancement & Community Relations

On October 2, the Junior School officially opened a new space for Havergal College—the Cohen Amphitheatre. Made possible by the Cohen family, this new outdoor learning area is shaped like a Roman amphitheatre and is nestled upon the banks of the Lisa Hardie Trail, surrounded by the abundant natural beauty of the Havergal campus. Available for use by both the Junior and Upper Schools as well as by staff and faculty, it is a space that can be enjoyed by the entire Havergal community.

For Geoff and Andrea Cohen, a project with a whole-school focus was a major factor in their decision to support the amphitheatre project. “We talked about wanting to provide an enhanced learning environment for the whole Havergal community,” Geoff says. “We believe deeply in the education that Havergal provides for our girls, and we wanted to give back in a way that would benefit everyone at the school.”

The Cohens discussed their decision with their daughters—Finley and Isla—who cut the ribbon at the opening ceremony. “We wanted our children to actively participate in our decision,” Andrea says. “For them to be able to see and touch the gift that our family has given to Havergal makes it so special. We feel lucky to be able to show our appreciation for the school and its wonderful faculty and staff, and at the same time help our children to understand the true meaning of giving.”

The school would like to express its gratitude to the Cohens and to all its generous donors for their ongoing support and commitment to Havergal College. 🍀

Developing the Gutsy Global Citizen: Moral Courage at Havergal College

By Ann Peel, Director, Institute at Havergal

Courageous, innovative problem solvers who are ready to take on the world: this is the raison d'être of our student engagement programming. Havergal's Global Experience Program, Students Act Now initiatives and various clubs and councils are but a few of the many programs and supports in place to enable our students to learn to lead in the world at—and beyond—Havergal.

Our students have a long history of activism and community engagement. The 1941 issue of the Ludemus speaks of the sweaters, hats and pairs of socks knitted by the girls and sent to the troops fighting in World War II. In 1978, Mary Dennys (Havergal's 6th Principal) wrote: "...more than ever before, young people of today need to be flexible and adaptable, able to face challenges—and discouragement. It will be vitally important for you to have formulated your values and standards."

In our focus this year on moral courage, we are continuing Havergal's long-time commitment to ethical action. What may be different now is that our students are, arguably, the first generation expected to address global problems. They are a generation that knows they must act. What they may not know is how much courage ethical action takes.

Moral courage is doing the right thing in the face of your fears. The journey to moral courage is a journey to finding your own integrity. It is a journey of knowing yourself—in relation to others—and of taking values-based action aligned with what you find compelling, what matters to you and what makes you thrive. For students at Havergal, gutsy global citizenship forms the continuation of our work on enabling young women to make a difference through an approach that honours our shared humanity as people, our varied perspectives and our work done in partnership.

Being a gutsy global citizen means:

- knowing yourself at least as much as knowing other people. Self-knowledge creates a culture that honours lived experience. It is the source of feeling your sense of agency, then acting on it.
 - being fearless about making arguments and questioning positions while being open to changing your mind. This is the central challenge of living ethically in a pluralistic era.

The Forum for Change serves as the hub of Havergal's learning on moral courage. The Ready, Set, Dream: Building Gutsy Global Citizens workbook will be distributed to all students to support learning about their own values and what they stand for so that they can take ethical action. Through the Forum for Change in the Upper School and at Student Institute Team (SIT) meetings in the Junior School, our students will have the opportunity to identify what they care about and will have the time to work together to develop courageous conversations on change. They will be free to choose and discuss the issues that matter most to them, based on what they believe deserves and demands honest conversation in the school community. The intention is that these conversations will lead to ethical actions in the lives of students and the school.

To learn about our students who are already engaged in courageous action, please see the Student Stories section of the Forum for Change web page at www.havergal.on.ca/forumforchange. 🍌

The Foundation for our Questions

The journey to moral courage requires: time to reflect in a safe space; the support to start courageous conversations and to ask questions that challenge ideas; and the coaching to act on what compels you, even in the face of opposition. Finding your voice is critical.

Moral Courage Guiding Questions

Moral courage is a way of approaching the world that resonates with our community. It offers a framework for our questions, which allows for a continuation of our conversations about creating the world we want.

Here are some of the guiding questions that shape the framework:

1. What do I value? What do I care about?
What compels me?
2. What do I stand for?
3. What kind of world do I want?
4. Who will I work with and what is their perspective?
5. Where will we find shared purpose?
6. What ethical action will we take?

Keeping Connected

Beyond the Ivy

By Young Um, Director of Communications

Old Girl

Melanie Plet's 1992 connections to her former

Havergal classmates are as strong as ever, even 22 years since graduation. "I'm still best friends with so many of my classmates. Being an Old Girl is all about sisterhood and connection. We share in each other's successes and we're instantly there for one another when we need support," Melanie says. "I graduated in 1992 and I still feel the impact of Havergal all the time."

In addition to her close friendships, Melanie says that staying connected with her alma mater is very important to her. After graduating from Havergal, she went on to study psychology and worked in clinical practice for over 10 years before taking a leave to raise her four young children. During this time, she has made it a priority to keep close ties with the school as a volunteer with the Havergal Old Girls Association (HOGA) and in various other capacities with increasing leadership responsibilities. She was a Class Rep for her graduating class and a committee member of the HOGA Distinguished Speaker Event Committee for several years, before chairing that committee for three years. Melanie was most recently the Vice President of HOGA, and is currently the Association's President.

HOGA's mission is to provide support to and connections between the Old Girl community and Havergal College. "We want to sustain a lifelong association between every Old Girl and the Havergal College community," says Melanie, noting HOGA's core values of friendship & connection, leadership & philanthropy, and tradition & innovation.

As HOGA President, Melanie also hopes to establish stronger connections with students before they graduate. For example, on September 19, Melanie attended the Mother Daughter Luncheon for the Class of 2015. "I can see that the girls love Havergal. They are amazingly connected to one another. They are strong, confident young women," she says. She notes further that in the 2014–15 academic year, the HOGA Class Rep position will become part of the formal election process. This way, with a Grade 12 student elected to represent their class even before graduation, even stronger connections will be possible between HOGA and the current students.

Through her involvement with HOGA, Melanie has had the opportunity to meet Old Girls from every decade. "I've met every generation of Old Girls and it's amazing how connected you feel immediately to each other," she says. Melanie hopes to get more alumnae reconnected in a more substantial way—by attending events, volunteering and being more involved in Havergal's fundraising program. "As Old Girls, we are the ones who have benefitted, so we need to give back to the school," she adds.

Louise Yearwood agrees. As Havergal's Executive Director of Advancement & Community Relations, Louise oversees the school's alumnae and fundraising programs. She says Old Girls have been generous donors to Havergal and have supported the school since its inception. Leading by example, every member of the HOGA Directorate shows her commitment through a financial donation to the school. "Old Girls support the school in a variety of ways; one of the key ways is to give financially to the school. And as demands on the school to maintain its level of excellence increase, we would like to see a higher participation rate by our alumnae," Louise says.

Right: Taylor Murrell 2015 (far right) and her classmates await their mothers' arrival for the Grade 12 Mother Daughter Luncheon on September 19. Mothers were honoured with Marguerite daisies, a symbol of the Havergal Old Girl.

“Old Girls particularly understand the need to ensure that their beloved Havergal is available to any mission-appropriate girl who would benefit from a Havergal education,” says Louise, noting that Old Girls’ donations often support their class endowments, which mostly are designated to support bursaries at Havergal. “Old Girls also have a deep connection to the school through their support of the Chaplaincy, the Dr. Catherine Steele 1928 Archives, the Ellen Knox Library and the Legacy Theatre.”

For Old Girls, traditions form the foundation of their Havergal experience. “Founders’ Day and Carol Service are both traditions that are very meaningful to our community. It’s great to see Old Girls attending our Carol Service,” says Louise, noting that at Founders’ Day—one of many occasions in the school calendar that bring alumnae and students together—the guest speaker is most often an Old Girl.

“When families come to Havergal, there’s a general understanding that their investment in their daughters will stretch beyond the school experience—that they will be a part of a lifelong community. However, parents are often not aware of the full extent to which we support their daughters long after they graduate,” Louise says. “What surprises families is how robust the Old Girls program is.”

For example, designed to capitalize on the strength of the Old Girls network, the Havergal Mentoring Program, Light the Way, offers both long-term and short-term mentoring programs. It is designed to allow participants the opportunity to discuss career paths, form new relationships and forge lifelong connections. It includes the Student Conversations Program that connects Old Girls in their chosen professions with students who are seeking advice about career choices and university programs.

Student Conversations

Taylor Murrell 2015 always knew she wanted to be a lawyer, but she didn’t know which field to focus on. Last spring, Taylor connected with the Old Girls Office following a conversation she had with Vice Principal Lois Rowe. Through the Student Conversations Program, Taylor was connected with Old Girl Jill Fraser 1987, a Partner at the law firm Aird & Berlis LLP.

“I emailed Ms. Fraser and she responded right away suggesting that we meet for lunch,” Taylor says. Armed with a handful of questions, Taylor wanted to know what corporate law was all about and what she should take at university to prepare for law school. Jill talked about her daily life as a lawyer, her role at the firm and law school requirements. After their meeting, Taylor said she felt even more enthusiastic and assured and had a clear view of her future.

“My sense is that Taylor went away with an understanding of corporate law and that there’s no set path to get there—you don’t need a specific undergraduate degree to get into law school,” says Jill, who also volunteered as a mentor as part of the 2013 Havergal Career Networking Event (run by the Advancement & Community Relations and Guidance departments), which brings together more than 100 mentors (including Old Girls and parents) to network with Grade 11 and 12 students.

“I really believe it’s important for those with experience to mentor others. Mentoring is invaluable for anyone starting out. Often those starting off in a career need some good advice: who are the right people to talk to and how to get into a new profession,” Jill says. “You should always follow your passions and make sure you do what you love.”

“As an Old Girl, you are always going to be a part of this community—a community that will support you beyond the ivy.”

—Louise Yearwood

According to Jill, the mentor-mentee relationship is based on both giving and receiving. “I enjoy the satisfaction of giving back and helping someone else. I always learn from those whom I mentor, as they bring different perspectives to the conversation.”

Taylor fully appreciates the power of the Old Girls network. “I look forward to coming back to Havergal and forming connections. One day, I’d like to do the same thing Ms. Fraser did for me. I would have never had this connection outside of this school,” Taylor adds.

Mentoring Journeys: Old Girl to Old Girl

The Havergal Mentoring Program offers a framework through which mentees can explore their potential, share life experiences and set strategies to realize their professional and personal goals. Mentoring Journeys, the long-term mentoring program, connects experienced Old Girls with fellow Old Girls who are just starting out and seeking guidance about their career goals. In its nine years, the program has matched and supported more than 60 pairs of mentors/mentees.

In 2009, Julia Moore 2006 participated in Mentoring Journeys and was matched with Marilyn Prowse De Mara 1971. The two Old Girls, both accountants in the charitable sector, shared many similarities that made them a natural mentoring pair. When they first met, Julia had two years under her belt at Ernst & Young, while Marilyn, a seasoned chartered accountant, was the first woman to become a partner at KPMG LLP in 1985.

Their mentoring relationship lasted two years, enriching both their lives and proving equally rewarding for the mentor and mentee.

“Everyone benefits from having a mentor in their life and it’s gratifying to be able to help a younger professional. If you are a leader or an executive, there’s a responsibility for you to ‘light the way’ for others to follow in your footsteps and to give back what you’ve been fortunate to have experienced,” Marilyn says. “With Havergal, it’s the common connection—the shared experience as Old Girls—that makes the mentoring relationship that much easier.”

Staying Connected

To run a successful alumnae program, the school offers a variety of activities that appeal to a wide audience who are at different stages of their lives (for a list of programs, see page 20). In addition, HOGA works tirelessly to engage Old Girls, both locally and internationally, in their learning through participation in social events and professional networking opportunities. HOGA keeps its programming fresh and responsive to the needs of its members. Last year, HOGA offered a new series of breakfast workshops and lunch-and-learns in the Bay Street Corridor focused on entrepreneurship and networking, organized a tour of a law firm’s private art collection (social networking) and hosted an Old Girls golf clinic and reception.

An annual tradition, Reunion Weekend (held on the same weekend as Celebration Saturday) is central to the school’s alumnae program. Old Girls are invited back to the school every five years to celebrate with their classmates. This year, on September 27, more than 320 Old Girls from 1944 to 2009, from those classes ending in ’4 and ’9 were honoured at Reunion Weekend 2014.

“Reunion Weekend is at the core of our work with our Old Girls. The event provides an occasion for Old Girls to come back to the school to renew ties, see old friends and connect with current and former staff and faculty. They also get to meet Old Girls from other years who are celebrating a reunion,” Louise adds.

According to Louise, although Havergal supports its alumnae in practical ways through various Old Girls programs, it’s the personal and emotional connections that sustain Old Girls from every decade. At this year’s Reunion Weekend, Old Girl Alannah Campbell Kearns 1974 honoured her classmates, more than 40 in attendance celebrating their 40th reunion, with a speech focused upon friendship and the value of being a part of the community that will sustain them over their lifetime. Alannah’s remarks included the following excerpt:

“Havergal became our home—our community. It helped define who we were...And even though we didn’t think of it at the time, we were making memories—memories that would last a lifetime...Havergal gave us each other...Wonderful friends who can reconnect in minutes—after decades apart...Havergal also works hard at keeping us connected—Forty Years On.”

In her role, Louise has had the privilege of meeting Old Girls from every graduating class. “It’s amazing to see the friendships that form while at Havergal and how they grow closer over the years,” she says, recalling a special group of Old Girls who recently returned to Havergal to celebrate their 60th Reunion. “Everybody has ups and downs in their lives; the power of the Old Girls network is that it supports you throughout all these occasions, no matter what. As an Old Girl, you are always going to be a part of this community—a community that will support you beyond the ivy. For a current parent, it is a comfort to know that your care and investment in your daughter is realized not only while she is at the school but also well beyond it—and forever.” 🍷

Discovering Spirituality at Havergal

By The Reverend Canon Susan Bell, Chaplain

Old Girls and parents know well that Havergal College is more than a school. In the words of one Old Girl: “We are a family and a community.”

So true. And it is a fact that is well known by The Rev’d Andrew MacDonald and me, The Rev’d Canon Susan Bell, respectively the Assistant Chaplain and Chaplain at Havergal. Mr. MacDonald has the care of the Junior School while I am the Chaplain for the whole school, paying particular attention to the Middle and Senior Schools.

Havergal is an Anglican school. Anglican schools have traditionally been those affiliated with the Anglican Church of Canada, while serving the whole of their communities. This means that we are here for students of all faiths and none.

So what does this mean and what does this look like on a daily basis?

Havergal is a place where education happens; however, unlike some other schools, we take care to provide intellectual, physical and spiritual learning. Havergal is a place where formation takes place—where our students are invited to think beyond themselves, to consider both their own spirituality as well as the spirituality of others who represent the diversity within our community, our city and our world. Havergal is a place where we explore what it means to make a difference, in the words of our school’s mission. Havergal is a place where we seek to grow into the fullness of who each of us was created to be.

Each week on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays, the community gathers in the Brenda Robson Hall and in the Junior School Hall for Prayers. These are services of prayer and an exploration of how our values and spirituality are integrated daily into all our lives. Mr. MacDonald and I help with preparation and support for Prayers, and depending upon the day, Prayers may be led by students, the Chaplain or by members of the faculty and staff.

Because we are a community—a family—each voice that is heard in Prayers is valued. Because we are all on a lifelong journey of the integration of our values, we welcome many different perspectives on how that process happens.

In addition to their curriculum of intellectual and physical education, during the rest of the week students also attend Religious Education classes in the Junior School and the Middle School, which are taught by Mr. MacDonald. Confirmation classes are offered to the students in the Middle and Senior Schools.

As the school’s Chaplains, we are available for pastoral care and counselling, and the beautiful St. Cecilia Chapel is available to everyone in our community as a place of quiet and peace: for prayer and for solitude in the midst of a busy school day.

The familiar rhythm of Prayers, pastoral support and intentional spiritual education for all is what it means to be an Anglican school. 🍀

Because we are a community—a family—
each voice that is heard in Prayers is valued.

The Reverend Canon Susan Bell and The Reverend Andrew MacDonald in the Chapel of St. Cecilia in the Upper School.

Grad Profile 2014

Congratulations to the 120 students of Havergal's graduating Class of 2014 who have chosen to attend universities both in Canada and abroad. The Class of 2014 was offered in excess of $1.3 million in both renewable and non-renewable scholarships. We wish them the best of luck in their areas of study.

Rachelle Li

Western University, Biomedical Science & Music

Rachelle, a gifted violinist, joined Havergal in Grade 4. The school provided an enriched environment for her to develop into a well-rounded student while at the same time supporting her musical talents. Her involvement at the school included participating on various sports teams and community partnerships, being a member of Student Council and the Welcome Committee and playing in the school's orchestras and chamber music ensembles. She was School Captain in her graduating year, representing and leading the student body with confidence and enthusiasm. Outside Havergal, Rachelle was a member of the Toronto Symphony Youth Orchestra and The Phil and Eli Taylor Performance Academy for Young Artists. Upon graduation, she received the J. Herbert Mason Medal, which is Havergal's highest honour awarded for character. Rachelle is currently studying Biomedical Science and Music at Western University.

Shivani Nathoo

University of Toronto, Engineering Science

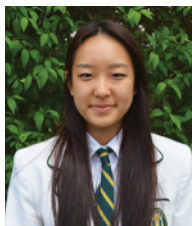

Havergal was the perfect school for Shivani because it allowed her to realize her full potential by providing her with a risk-tolerant environment in which she could try many things. For example, she is grateful that she had the opportunity to perform on stage in her drama classes, to discuss issues with the debate team and to engage in compelling math and science classes. She was Co-Head of Beatstock, a student-organized music event in support of one of the school's community partners, and also a member of the Chamber and Senior Choirs and the Environment Club. Outside of school, she dedicated her time to singing in the Upper Canada Chorus. Shivani continues to pursue her love of music outside of school while she studies Engineering Science at the University of Toronto and explores a future in fuel cell technology, an interest that was enriched during her involvement with Havergal's Environment Club.

Emma Smith

Queen's University, Commerce

As a member of the Welcome Committee, Emma gave tours to families interested in Havergal, explaining to them that attending the school was the best choice she ever made. Having joined Havergal in Grade 4, she was involved in a wide variety of sports teams including soccer, track and field, softball, volleyball, swim and tennis. She was the Margaret Taylor House Captain in her graduating year and a key member of Student Council. Emma appreciated her time at Havergal for the leadership opportunities, the support and mentorship she received from her teachers and the excellent athletics program, which allowed her to develop her athletic skill. Emma is currently at Queen's University in the Commerce program and playing on the Queen's Gaels Soccer Team.

Jane Park

Rhode Island School of Design, Art

With a passion for the visual arts, Jane was appreciative of Havergal's outstanding art program and talented Arts faculty. She enjoyed exploring the variety of traditional and non-traditional media such as painting, photography, printmaking, sculpting and multimedia. As Art Club Head in her senior year, she developed leadership skills by organizing various arts-related activities and by guiding fellow art students. A highlight of her senior year was having one of her paintings (which she donated) purchased at a charity art auction in support of one of Havergal's community partners. Jane felt great satisfaction in helping others through her artistic expression and hopes to have other opportunities to give back through her art. She is currently studying art at the Rhode Island School of Design, where she plans to focus on textile design.

Reunion Weekend 2014

Hundreds of Old Girls returned to Havergal to reconnect with former classmates and the HC community at Reunion Weekend on Saturday, September 27 and Sunday, September 28. This year, we welcomed back our graduating classes ending in '4 and '9.

The 2014 Old Girls Reunion Weekend began on Saturday morning with Celebration Saturday festivities. Celebration Saturday is a wonderful annual tradition with the goal to help our broader community in the spirit of the "Bazaar." Proceeds from the event support Havergal's community partnerships, and each year Havergal students decide which organizations will be chosen to receive support. At Celebration Saturday, HOGA's Annual Events Committee and many Old Girls volunteer their time to organize and run the Hava Java Coffee House, which is always a great success, and this year was no exception!

On Saturday, the Reunion Years Cocktail Party brought together more than 320 Old Girls to mix and mingle with friends, classmates and former staff. Lots of laughter could be heard as they reminisced and looked at old pictures of their time at Havergal in the archives display (assembled by Debra Latcham, Library Technician for Havergal). Later that evening, each class moved on to its own special class celebrations, which were hosted in a variety of homes and restaurants around the city.

The Reunion Weekend celebrations continued on Sunday with the Old Girls Chapel Service led by the school Chaplain, The Reverend Canon Susan Bell. The service included delightful remembrances from Di Davies 1964 and Kathy Vernon Martin 1974. We would like to thank Buffy Ash Spears 1965 and Sarah Siu 2008, who provided the musical accompaniment for the service. We would also like to thank Boarder Captain Le Dan Pham 2015, who spoke about Boarding life at the school today and what her experiences at Havergal have meant to her. After the service, the Class of 1964 gathered in the Ellen Knox Library to celebrate their 50th reunion with a luncheon. Congratulations to our newest Cinquantenaires!

Classes ending with '5 and '0 will celebrate reunions next year. Look out for more details in the spring and summer of 2015!

Thank You from the Chairs

In this fall 2014 issue of the Torch/Annual Report, we consider the importance of our Old Girls community and the many ways in which our Old Girls continue to contribute to the culture and ethos of our school. Our Old Girls network has existed for many decades and plays a significant role in the choice many parents make to pursue an independent school education for their children.

In addition to supporting each other beyond Havergal as well as supporting our current students through mentoring and networking programs, our Old Girls contribute generously to Havergal with their financial gifts. It seems fitting therefore, in this edition of the Annual Report, to extend our particular gratitude to our Old Girls for their long-standing commitment to the financial wellbeing of Havergal College.

As the Chair of the Havergal College Board of Governors and Chair of The Havergal College Foundation for the 2013–14 school year, we would like to extend our thanks to the many generous donors—in addition to our Old Girls—who included Havergal College in their family's charitable priorities. A number of families chose to commit to a major gift ($25,000+) and for this act of generosity we are exceptionally grateful.

Participating in the school's Annual Giving Program as well as supporting ongoing capital investment are critical to the school's mission and strategic goals and to maintaining Havergal's place at the pinnacle of girls' education in Canada and beyond.

As the school moves toward the completion of its next strategic plan, which will guide us for the next five years, we encourage the Havergal community to continue to give generously. Your contributions have a significant impact on the life of our students and of our school, and are greatly appreciated.

Annual Giving: Class of 2014 Bursary

Every year, graduating class families are asked to contribute a special gift to the school in honour of their daughters' graduation. Families of the 2014 graduating class established an endowed fund to support a bursary for one or more Havergal College students who demonstrate financial need. A committee of parent volunteers and student representatives worked throughout the year to encourage support for the gifts, with more than $102,000 raised to establish the fund. Thank you to all of the students and families who generously supported the Class of 2014 Bursary.

The HCPA Bursary

The Havergal College Parent Association (HCPA) is a liaison between the parent body and the school. Its dedicated parent volunteers engage in a variety of important initiatives for the school, which include Celebration Saturday, the Father Daughter Dance, Used Uniform Sales, Used Textbook Sales and Horticulture. Members also volunteer as Grade Representatives and assist with the smooth running of the school's Green & Gold Shop.

Endowed in the 2008-2009 school year, the HCPA Bursary provides funding for mission-appropriate students who would otherwise be unable to attend Havergal. Since the establishment of this important fund, it has reached $322,000.

DONATIONS IN ACTION

The Institute at Havergal: The Institute provides school-wide education about the key forces shaping our world and delivers programs that enable students to explore and engage in the world both locally and internationally.

In May 2014, the Student Innovation Award was conferred on Ceilidh Mendelson-Grasse for founding and inspiring the Havergal Cancer Education Group. She worked throughout the year on events, workshops and other original ways of sharing and building understanding within the Havergal community about different cancers, the impact of cancer on young people and the state of research in the field.

Linda Manziaris learned to make jewellery at Havergal. She expanded this knowledge to build a business with a social mission. Profits from her company Body Bijou go to support girls' education through GirlsHelpingGirls and other organizations. In honour of her work, Linda was named Young Entrepreneur of the Year in Ontario and Canada at the 2014 Startup Canada Awards and was the co-recipient of the 2014 Student Innovation Award.
